

Sunshine to My Heart

Kelly Burton, Jamie Thompson, Allison Speer, Frederick Faber

My feet are nothing more than clay, they'll stand until the ground gives way
Shifting sands moved by waves is my fair weather faith
My hands are good at taking things, perverting and breaking things
One carries an offering, one plots an evil scheme

How can You think so well of me, yet be the God you are
This thought is Darkness to my mind, yet sunshine to my heart

My mouth can kiss you and be unkind, can bless you and rob you blind
Can tell you the sweetest lies, it happens all the time

Repeat chorus

Bridge

Sin is mingled with my soul, more grace, O Lord, more grace
I'm divided, You are whole, more grace, O Lord, more grace

How can You think so well of me, yet be the God you are
This thought is Darkness to my mind
How can You think so well of me, yet be the God you are
This thought is Darkness to my mind, yet sunshine to my heart
It's sunshine to my heart